B. Background of Event

In organizing this virtual international conference, the committee aims to explore the evolving digital frontiers that are transforming language education, literary studies, and pedagogical practices. This conference serves as a platform for researchers, educators, and practitioners to share innovative ideas, research findings, and digital methodologies relevant to the modern educational landscape.

With a focus on the integration of technology in teaching and scholarship, the event encourages dialogue on how digital tools, platforms, and virtual environments are redefining how we teach, learn, and engage with language and literature. It fosters collaboration and critical exchange to better understand and navigate the digital shifts shaping the future of education and the humanities.

Furthermore, this conference is a cooperative event conducted by UTI and Lembaga Layanan Pendidikan Tinggi (L2DIKTI) region 2, South Regions of Sumatera. However,
